★ TINY GIFTS

- beeswax candles
- craft supplies such as wool roving, beeswax, embroidery thread, yarn, etc.
- supplies to make herbal remedies, lip balm, salves
- art supplies such as pencil crayons, beeswax crayons, watercolour paint, paintbrushes, etc.
- practical yet special items such as woolens, slippers, pj's, a new brush, etc.
- a small doll, wooden car, finger puppet, or other special toy
- cookie cutters, rolling pin, play dough, etc.
- a homemade gift certificate for a certain amount of money to spend through an online donation program - our kids always love searching through the options (school supplies, animals, sports equipment, medicine, food) and choosing something special to spend their money on.
- paper white or other flower bulbs to grow indoors
- postcards or cards to write on and send to family & friends
- seeds and a tiny pot
- a few dollars to spend at the grocery store on an item to put in the food hamper
- ingredients for cookies or brownies - divided up over a few days, or in a jar or sweetly tied bag - make & enjoy together, or make a note for them to think of someone to gift them to over the holidays.

★ TINY FREE GIFTS:

- special stones, crystals, or other natural items
- instructions for a secret handshake, magic trick, or a knock-knock joke.
- a poem or letter to your little one describing all the awesome things about them

★ TINY TOGETHERNESS // tuck in a note about these activities

- read a Bible verse or snippet from a favourite winter story (you can do this alone or with a related gift)
- make hot chocolate and popcorn
- watch a holiday movie
- go caroling
- serve at a local shelter or food bank
- knit hats or blankets for those in need
- tape quarters to phone booths and bus shelters (a huge favourite over here)
- make Christmas gifts or ornaments together
- random acts of kindness such as shoveling a neighbours walk, leaving change in the meter, paying for someone else's meal, leaving a gift on someone's step... there are many sites online with ideas for random acts of kindness!
